Summary

Previously a lawyer, I transitioned into web development out of a passion for technical creation. My dual skill set enables me to combine analysis, problem-solving, and regulatory compliance. Depending on project needs, I can work on front end or back end development, and easily adapt to different programming languages. I find motivation in collaborative environments and am committed to customer satisfaction. Keen to gain experience outside France, I am committed to bringing value to a progressive company in Europe or Canada.
